

Spatial tools for conservation planning in remote spaces: end of project workshop

Why is coastal habitat mapping so important for us?

Denise Blake, FIG Environment

Produced as part of the Darwin DPLUS065 Coastal Habitat Mapping project

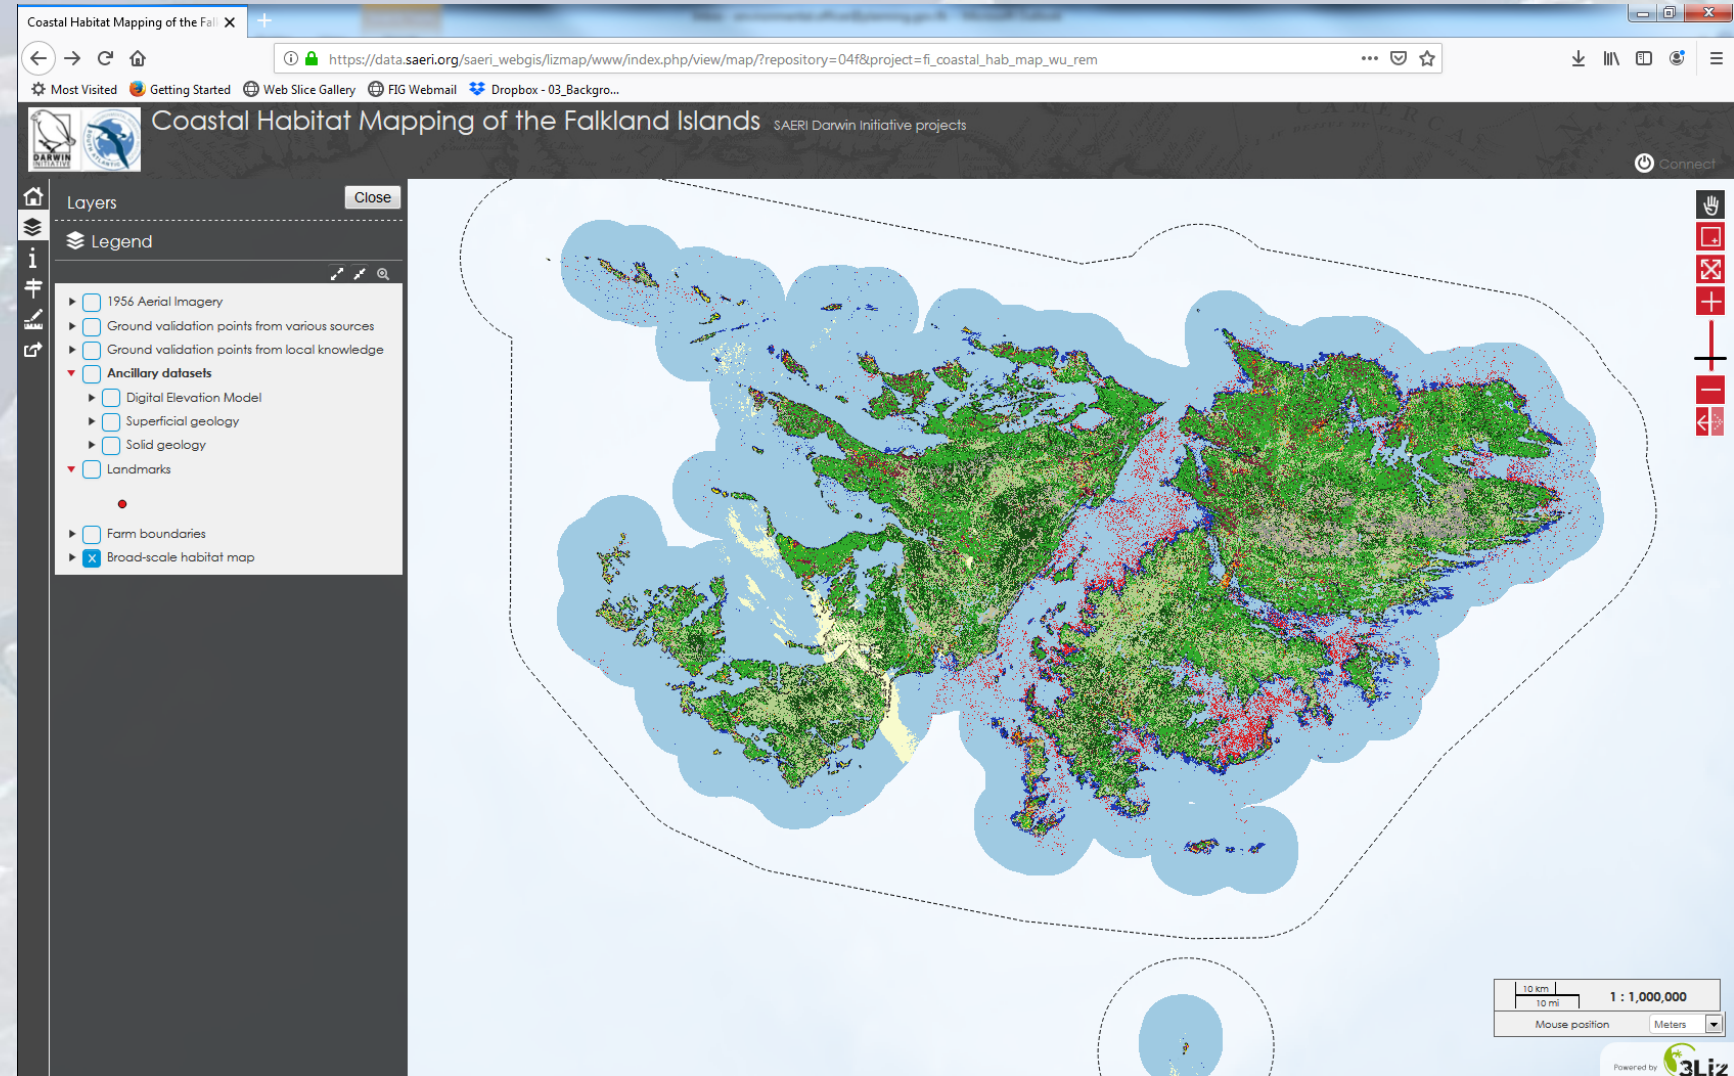

Aerial Imagery from 1956.

✓ Available online through the webGIS.

Broadscale Habitat Maps

Spatial tools for conservation planning in remote spaces: end of project workshop

Any questions?

